

John Miller, CPA

Professional Experience

John Miller is a Shareholder in the firm's Financial Institutions Group. Drawing upon more than 25 years of banking industry experience as not only a CPA and advisor, but also as a Chief Financial Officer of a community bank, his understanding of financial institutions and their operations provides a unique perspective to clients' engagements.

As a highly technical advisor, John is relied on to ensure sound accounting and business practices are being performed through a variety of assurance and advisory services. From external audits, to evaluating internal controls, or consulting on recent regulatory and technical pronouncements, he assists clients in assessing and managing risk.

John's professional experience expands beyond working with privately held financial institutions. He acted as a technical specialist with a regional CPA firm on many SEC-registered entities prior to joining the firm and is well versed on internal controls.

A nationally recognized speaker and author, John is often called on by technical and industry associations.
